Homemakers Items

A knee pad will prove invaluable for many cleaning jobs. Make your own of excelsior, kapok, or an old cushion which may be folded together and covered.

Burn your grapefruit, orange, and lemon peels in the stove to clean out the stove pipe.

It's hard sometimes to remove old finish from tiny grooves on the arms and legs of furniture. You may find this trick helpful—dip a piece of twine in the paint and varnish remover and see-saw back and forth through the groove or rings.

Here's a hint for the person with a pet dog or cat: Glue an old rubber jar ring under the animal's feeding dish. This helpqs keep it anchored to the floor and prevents tipsets.

Save the juice from your pickled fruits, such as crabapples, peaches, and pears, and use to baste your smoked ham.

If you've reently moved and inherited a stove with an oven that isn't too clean, with thick coatings of grease inside, put small open dishes filled with ammonia inside the broiler and the oven section. Leave them there overnight. The ammonia fumes loosen the accumulated grime enough to make your clean-up a much easier job.

Abbitt Speaks At Powhatan

Powhatan, Va., Sept. 5—Representative W. M. Abbitt speaking here today at a Labor Day community celebration said that "within recent months we have seen some lessening of the tensions which have so long hovered over the free world. We must, however, not be deceived by shrewd diplomacy or minor concessions which may be only bait to lure us into a false sense of security.

"The key to permanent world peace is adequate military strength on the part of the free world. If we are adequately prepared for any eventuality we need not fear being attacked. Fear of the atomic bomb has so far prevented a third world war."

The Fourth District Congressman further pointed out that "it is just as important that we remain strong economically as it is militarily. We cannot afford to crumble from within. We can only keep our military forces as strong as we can without endangering our economy. This is all the more reason that we must secure the maximum strength at the least possible cost both in manpower and money."

Abbitt also said "today the free world is hopeful that changed conditions will lead toward disarmament which is the prerequisite for the most desired of all attainments —permanent world peace."

"But we also know that no successful negotiations for disarmament would ever be possible unless those negotiations were conducted from a position of relative strength."

The Virginia lawmaker stated that "the one sure way to lose the battle of freedom in this nuclear age is to be lulled into reducing our armed forces where a possible enemy believed that they could destroy us in a sudden all-out surprise atomic attack without in turn being destroyed themselves."

Abbitt emphasized in particular the fact that "we should continue our guard. We must not be lulled into a false sense of security. We cannot be diplomatically strong unless we are militarily strong."

The second Salk vaccine polio immunization shots will be given in Appomattox County some time between Oct. 1 and Oct. 15, it was announced this week by Dr. H. E. Jenkins, of the County Health Department. Exact dates will be announced soon.

Receipt of a new supply of the vaccine is expected by Oct. 1. Only enough will be sent to give the shots to those who had the first shots last spring. No new children can be added to the list. In the spring series, 409 first and second garde school children in the county received the vaccine, with no bad results, and Dr. Jenkins recommends that all of these come back for the second shots at the October dates. This is not compulsory, and it is the responsibility of the parents. However, it is believed that all parents will want their children to take the second shots. These 409 are now in the second and third grades at school. It is hoped that a supply of the vaccine will later be made available so that additional children may receive the shots, but until this happens, no new children can be added to the list of 409 recorded by the Health Department. Any unused vaccine will be returned to Richmond.

As in the first immunization, children will be transported to the local Health Center in school buses for the second vaccine shots. Parents will be notified by the teachers. Parents will not have to sign new permission forms.
